Example

The example that follows is intended to help you compare the cost of investing in the Fund with the cost of investing in other mutual funds. The example assumes that you invest $10,000 in the Fund for the time periods indicated and then redeem your shares at the end of those periods. The example also assumes that your investment has a 5% return each year and that the Fund's operating expenses remain the same. Although your actual costs may be higher or lower, based on these assumptions your costs would be:

Number of years:	1	3	5	10
Cost (with or without redemption):	$95	$296	$515	$1,143

Portfolio Turnover

The Fund pays transaction costs such as commissions, when it buys and sells securities (or “turns over” the portfolio). A higher portfolio turnover rate may indicate higher transaction costs and may result in higher taxes when Fund shares are held in a taxable account. These costs, which are not reflected in annual fund operating expenses or in the example, affect the Fund’s performance. During the most recent fiscal year, the Fund’s portfolio turnover rate was 170% of the average value of its portfolio.

INVESTMENT STRATEGIES, RISKS, AND PERFORMANCE

Summary of Principal Investment Strategies

The Fund invests primarily in equity securities of companies in the real estate industry, including real estate investment trusts (“REITs”). Under normal circumstances, the Fund expects to invest at least 80% of its assets in these securities. The Fund may invest up to 20% of its assets in equity or debt securities of companies outside the real estate industry. The debt and fixed income securities in which the Fund may invest may be of any credit quality (including below investment grade securities, commonly referred to as “junk bonds”) and of any maturity. The Fund may invest in equity securities of issuers of any size. The Fund may invest in the securities of U.S. and foreign issuers. The Fund may, from time to time, invest a significant portion of the Fund’s assets in a small number of companies. The Fund’s investment manager employs a flexible investment style and seeks to take advantage of opportunities as they arise. As a consequence of the Fund’s investment strategy, the Fund generally has a high rate of portfolio turnover.

Summary of Principal Risks

You may lose money if you invest in the Fund. The following is a summary description of certain risks of investing in the Fund:

Market risk: You may lose money on your investment due to a fall in prices of stocks or periods of below-average performance in the stock market or due to specific conditions that affect particular industries or issuers.

Real estate industry and market risk: Fund performance may be negatively affected by factors with an adverse effect on companies in the real estate industry, such as changes in property values, taxes, interest rates, occupancy rates and government regulations as well as potential liability under environmental and hazardous waste laws.

Fixed income investments risk: Debt and fixed income securities are subject to risks including credit risk (that the obligor may default), interest rate risk (that the value of securities will decline if interest rates increase), prepayment and extension risk (that the obligor will prepay payments due on a security when interest rates decrease or will extend payments when interest rates increase), and maturity risk (that the value of investments with long-term maturities will decline if long-term interest rates increase).

Lower rated debt securities risk: Lower rated debt securities, including securities commonly referred to as “junk bonds,” are very risky because the issuers may fail to make payments of interest and principal. In addition, the market for lower rated debt securities has in the past been more volatile than the markets for other securities, and in some cases markets for lower rated debt securities have ceased to function. Lower rated debt securities are also often less liquid than higher rated debt securities.

Small and medium-sized companies risk: The Fund’s investments in small and medium-sized companies involve greater risk than is typically associated with more established companies because these securities may be more volatile and may have returns that vary significantly from the overall markets.

Risk of investing in fewer issuers: If the Fund invests in larger positions in a smaller number of companies, the Fund will be more susceptible to negative events affecting those issuers.

Foreign securities risk: Investments in foreign issuers are subject to risks of possible adverse political and economic developments abroad. Foreign securities markets may be less liquid and more volatile than U.S. markets. Foreign investments may also involve risks of changes in foreign currency exchange rates.

Key personnel risk: If one or more key individuals become unavailable to the investment adviser, including the Fund’s portfolio manager, who is important to the management of the Fund’s assets, the Fund could suffer material adverse effects, including substantial share redemptions that could require the Fund to sell portfolio securities at times when markets are not favorable.
